About The Artist: Jeff Cash is an artist on a mission to utilize his talent and passion for art to make a difference for those lives that are touched by cancer. Through his Brush Strokes For Hope his quest is to spread more smiles, laughs, hugs and love. He started AFTC in memory of his parents and all those lives that cancer affects. His combine studies of the arts has given him the versatility in his art allowing him to create a style true to his own. A bit of imagination and allowing his mind to conceive his subjects in unique ways. Using the brilliance of just a few colors or the spectrum of many he creates art with a flair of distinction. Jeff Cash is also the portrait artist of the stars throughout the world. Through all his accomplishments he goes the extra mile by donating part of his proceeds from his art to The American Cancer Society.

Honors/Awards: Jeff Cash has received much acclaim and awards for his style and originality. His painting "In Gods Hands" is the property of the New York State Museum Albany N.Y. He had Art displayed in the Smithsonian African American Museum in Washington, DC, Art displayed in the Kentucky Heritage African American Museum, art displayed in the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame. His art is also featured in many local art galleries throughout the USA. He was also featured in the 2004 Edition of Marquis Who Who in America as an artist. In 2002 his art work was featured in Europe with the Perdurabo Art Gallery. He is featured in the 2018 edition of Stratmore's Who's Who Worldwide as the Artist Of The Year

New Projects: Who's Who in Your Neighborhood, The Flavors of Lauderhill a new and exciting publication that will be directly mailed to each home throughout the City of Lauderhill. He also continues to do Local Give Back Nites with local businesses for the ACS. Orchestrating events utilizing different programs. He also has many art shows in the works which are fundraisers for the ACS as well.

Affiliations: American Cancer Society, Drug Free World, Art For The Cure, The World Conference of Mayors, and Artists Against Violence

As an Advocate: Jeff Cash donates a lot of his time giving back. He orchestrates Give Back Nites with local businesses for The American Cancer Society. He works on the Foot Print program taking steps for cancer. He uses his talents to designs flyers, T-shirt designs and other printed material for many organizations such as The Relay For Life of Sunrise/Tamarac, Art Against Violence, Drug Free World and others. His art shows are also fundraisers as he donates part of his proceeds to the ACS. His heart, passion and ambition propels his mission to make a difference in the world and to help those lives that are touched by cancer.

In Summary: Giving back and making a difference is part of what makes Jeff Cash who he is. These quality traits that was bestowed upon him from his parents you can say are inherited traits for volunteering and helping others. He is using his talents, time and energy and working diligently with much effort in order to achieve success and to reach his goal, to help eradicate cancer for ever. He continues to strive and volunteer his time to help others.
